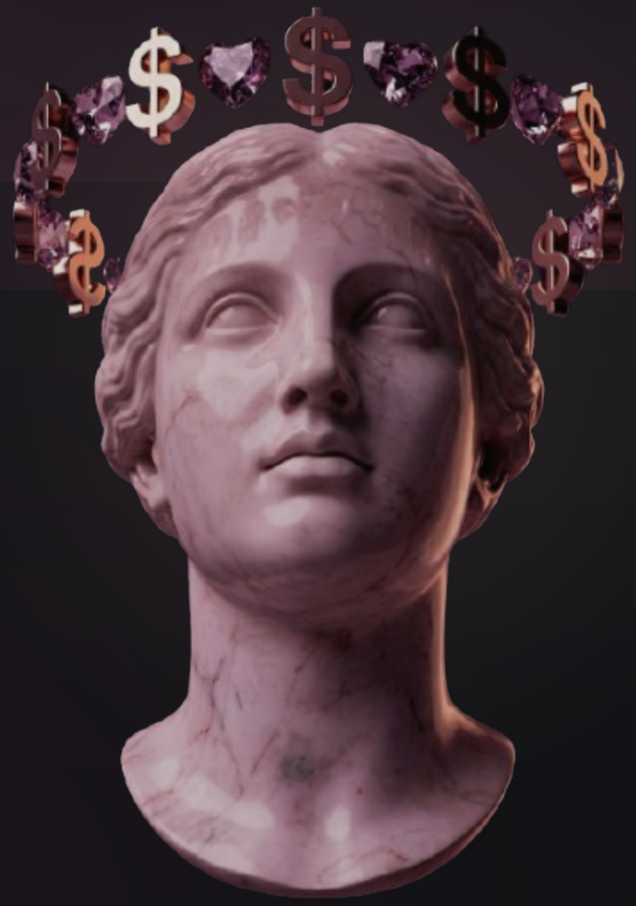
Cross-Platform Coordination

Grow Your Social Medias: Instagram, Threads, Reddit, Twitter

AI INFLUENCER METHOD



LESSON 6: CROSS-PLATFORM COORDINATION

You are not growing on five separate platforms. You are running one system with multiple tools. Each platform serves a role. Coordination between them is what multiplies your results. The persona must feel like the same person everywhere — same face, same name, same personality. The only thing that changes is the content format and tone for each platform.

Platform Roles Summary

- Threads: Trigger comments, start conversations, test narratives, send people to IG
- Instagram: Visually lock the persona, build trust, convert attention into clicks
- TikTok: Recycle content, generate extra views, capture additional attention
- Reddit: Niche exposure inside specific communities, viral spikes
- Twitter/X: Discovery environment, turn strangers into profile visitors

Content Distribution Rules

- Instagram gets your best content FIRST — always
- Never post the same image on two platforms on the same day
- Threads content is text-only — don't duplicate Instagram captions
- TikTok recycles Instagram content (delayed by 2-3 days minimum)
- Reddit gets unique content tailored to each subreddit
- Twitter gets a mix of text posts and image tweets
- Never upload raw AI images on any platform — always edit for realism

Weekly Posting Schedule

- Instagram: 1 quality Reel/day + daily Stories + 2-3 carousels/week
- Threads: 3-4 posts/day (Phase 1) scaling to 5-8/day (Phase 2)
- TikTok: 1-2 posts per day (wait 4+ hours between posts)
- Reddit: 1-2 images per subreddit per week, rotate subreddits
- Twitter: 2-3 tweets + 10-20 replies per day

Traffic Flow Between Platforms

- → Threads → drives profile visits to Instagram
- → Instagram → converts followers via link in bio
- → TikTok → supplements Instagram traffic (up to 3 accounts)
- → Reddit → niche viral spikes to profile
- → Twitter → steady discovery and brand presence
- → All platforms → Link in Bio → Telegram → Fanvue

Warmup Timeline Coordination

- Instagram warmup: 21-28 days (carousels + stories only, no Reels)
- Threads: Start after IG warmup, or last 7 days of warmup if stable
- Reddit warmup: 7 days minimum (day-by-day karma building)
- TikTok warmup: 9 days (day-by-day FYP engagement)
- Twitter warmup: 14 days (must pass shadowban check before scaling)

Cross-Platform Safety & Consistency

Visual Consistency Across All Platforms

- All images must look like the same person across every platform
- Backgrounds, lighting, and style should be consistent
- Small visual changes (hair color, accessories) are allowed
- Complete model swaps destroy everything across all platforms
- Add approximately 2% grain to all images for realism

Content Progression (All Platforms)

Every platform follows the same ladder. If the fan gets satisfaction on any platform, they will not click through to pay.

- → Neutral/soft content on social platforms builds curiosity
- → Stronger content builds desire
- → Fanvue fulfills fantasy
- → Always leave desire unfinished on free platforms

CONTENT LADDER RULE

If the fan gets satisfaction on any free platform, they will not click through to pay. Always leave desire unfinished. Each social platform is a teaser, not the show.

Platform-Specific Safety Reminders

- Instagram: No Reels before warmup, no links before 3 weeks
- Threads: SFW text only, no sales pitches ever
- TikTok: Safest content only, max 3 accounts per device
- Reddit: Blend in before posting, mark profile NSFW before NSFW content
- Twitter: Check shadowban status regularly, one device per account

Geo Targeting (All Platforms)

- Target English-speaking countries — USA priority
- Signal location through American music, city tags, cultural references
- Engage with English-speaking creators during warmup on every platform
- Geo blocking on Instagram is a last resort, not a default strategy

COORDINATION RULE

Your persona must feel like the same person across all platforms. Same face, same name, same personality. The only thing that changes is the content format and tone for each platform. Consistency builds trust. Trust creates spending.
