BANNER: VISUAL FIRST IMPRESSION

The banner is the first emotional signal. It sets the mood of the fantasy before the fan reads anything. The banner answers one question for the fan: What kind of world am I entering.

Banner Should Show

- AI persona in a natural, believable environment
- Bedroom, couch, mirror, or window settings
- Casual and personal pose, not staged
- Must match the persona type

Soft persona = relaxed and approachable. Dominant persona = confident and controlled.

GOOD EXAMPLE:

Natural bedroom selfie, soft lighting, casual pose, face clearly visible

BAD EXAMPLE:

Oversexualized pose, heavy filter, staged studio shot, no personality

The banner should suggest lifestyle and mood, not explicit sexuality. It should feel like a private moment rather than an advertisement.

END SUMMARY

- The Fanvue page is a conversion environment, not a content gallery
- The banner sets the mood — it must match the persona type
- The bio must sound human, emotional, and inviting
- Free content builds trust, subscriber content builds desire, PPV fulfills fantasy
- Each content layer must leave something unfinished
- Automated messages create emotional touchpoints, not sales pitches
- Subscription price removes fear — real revenue comes from chatting and PPV
- Visual consistency protects realism and creates attachment
