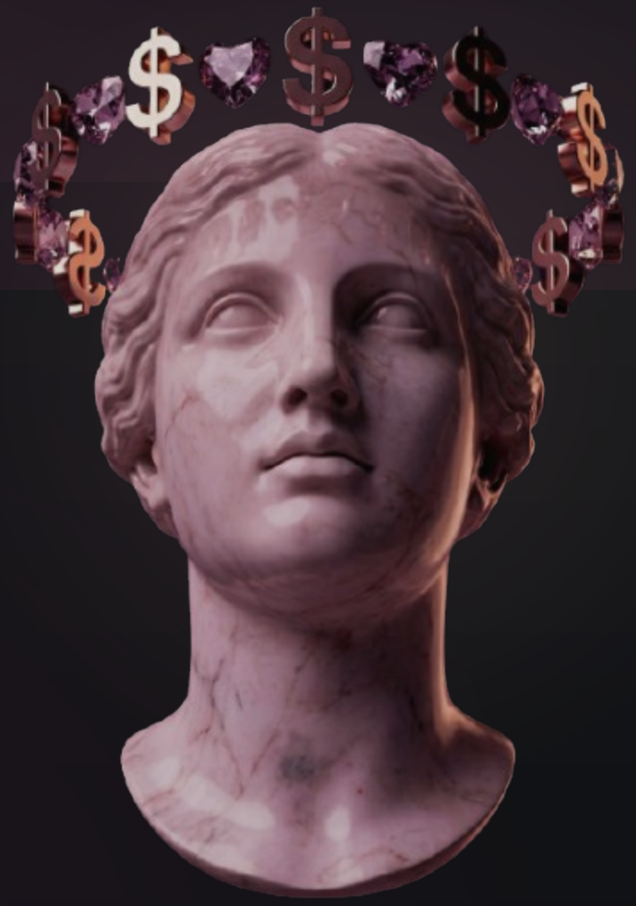
Fanvue Page Setup

Learn How to Turn Social Media Followers into Paying Fans

AI INFLUENCER METHOD



LESSON 3: FANVUE PAGE SETUP

Your Fanvue page is where money is made. Everything else in this course leads to this page. The Fanvue page is not a gallery. It is a conversion environment. Its purpose is to turn curiosity into trust and trust into spending. First impressions matter — a poorly set up Fanvue page will lose subscribers within 24 hours.

A good Fanvue page feels like entering a private space rather than browsing a product list. The fan should feel invited into a personal world, not pushed into a checkout decision.

The Page Must Communicate

- Personality
- Exclusivity
- Emotional safety

The goal is not to show everything. The goal is to suggest everything.

Banner: Visual First Impression

The banner is the first emotional signal. It sets the mood of the fantasy before the fan reads anything. The banner answers one question: What kind of world am I entering.

- AI persona in a natural, believable environment
- Bedroom, couch, mirror, or window settings
- Casual and personal pose, not staged
- Must match the persona type — soft persona = relaxed and approachable, dominant persona = confident and controlled

GOOD EXAMPLE:

Natural bedroom selfie, soft lighting, casual pose, face clearly visible

BAD EXAMPLE:

Oversexualized pose, heavy filter, staged studio shot, no personality

The banner should suggest lifestyle and mood, not explicit sexuality. It should feel like a private moment rather than an advertisement.

Bio: Identity and Emotional Hook

The bio should sound like a person, not a business. It must feel emotional rather than technical. A bad bio focuses on features instead of feelings. Features do not create desire. Feelings create desire.

Bio Structure (3 Lines)

- First line: personality or mood — who you are
- Second line: type of content/interaction — what happens here
- Third line: emotional invitation — why they should stay

GOOD EXAMPLE:

Just a girl who loves late nights and private talks.
I share my daily life and my naughty side here.
Stay and get to know me better.

BAD EXAMPLE:

Daily posts. HD videos. Cheap PPV.

The bio should never look like a shop description. It should look like a short personal introduction that makes the fan feel emotionally pulled in.
