LESSON 3: PLATFORM-SPECIFIC IMAGE RULES

Each platform has different content guidelines. What works on Reddit will get you banned on Instagram. Understanding what is 'safe' per platform prevents account strikes and keeps your content flowing without interruption. One wrong post can shadowban your account for weeks. Know the rules before you post.

Instagram (Strictest)

- No nudity, implied or explicit — zero tolerance
- No underwear as primary clothing (bras/panties as the outfit)
- Cleavage must be modest and natural — no extreme push-up
- Swimwear is allowed in context (beach, pool settings only)
- No sexual poses or suggestive hand placement
- No sexual captions or innuendo in text
- AI-generated content is increasingly flagged — realism is critical

TikTok (Strict)

- Similar rules to Instagram, often stricter enforcement
- Carousels and photo content are the safest format
- Avoid anything that could be flagged as 'adult content'
- When in doubt, keep it casual and fully clothed
- TikTok's moderation is faster and harsher than Instagram's
- One content strike can shadow your account for weeks

Threads (Moderate)

- Linked to Instagram — violations can affect your IG account
- Text-based posts are safest for Threads
- Optional photo attachments should be SFW casual only
- No explicit images, no suggestive poses in attached photos
- Keep it conversational — Threads is for personality, not photos

Reddit (Most Flexible)

- Rules vary dramatically by subreddit — always read before posting
- SFW subreddits still require tasteful, appropriate content
- Some SFW subs allow swimwear, others do not
- NSFW subreddits have their own specific content rules
- Mark your profile as NSFW in settings before any NSFW posting
- Moderators are human and strict — one violation can get you permanently banned from a subreddit

Twitter/X (Flexible)

- More lenient than Instagram overall
- SFW content actually performs better for discovery and growth
- Mark sensitive content appropriately in media settings
- Keep main feed clean — use the sensitive content flag for anything borderline
- Explicit content is allowed but must be properly marked

IMAGE PLACEHOLDER

Platform safety scale: horizontal gradient from 'Strictest' to 'Most Flexible'. Left: TikTok → Instagram → Threads → Twitter/X → Reddit. Show what's allowed at each level with checkmark and X icons for content types.

The 'When In Doubt' Decision Process

- Is the outfit something you would see at a mall? → Safe for Instagram/TikTok
- Is there visible underwear as the main outfit? → Not safe for Instagram
- Would this photo make you uncomfortable if your boss saw it? → Borderline — test with a trial post first
- Could this be interpreted as sexual? → Do not post on Instagram or TikTok

GOLDEN RULE

When in doubt, keep it safe. One content strike on Instagram can shadow your account for weeks. It is always better to post something slightly too modest than to risk a ban. You can always push boundaries gradually once trust is established — you cannot undo a strike.
